

TRIED TO STEAL $90,000 IN ORE Guard's Prompt Action Prevents.

Thieves Were Carrying Away
Stuff in Sacks When Fired On.

Fifteen Tons Consigned to Sodaville
Tempted Bandits to Make Bold
Effort to Get It.

Special to The Tribune.

RENO, Nev., Oct. 15.—The bold attempt of thieves at Klondike wells to hold up and steal the rich Sandstorm ore shipment consigned to the Stewart mill at Sodaville was defeated by the prompt action of Guard Tom Wilson, who compelled them to drop the stolen sacks and retreat in the darkness under a fusillade of shots. Owing to the great value of the ore, which comprised fifteen tons in 295 sacks valued at $90,000 and the danger of renewed attack, pursuit was impossible.

The matter of the attempted hold-up has been placed in the hands of the Sheriff of Esmeralda county, and efforts are now being made to capture the bandits.

Klondike wells are situated midway between Goldfield and Tonopah, in the center of the desert, and are patronized by teamsters en route between the two points. The locality is an isolated one, and the teams conveying the shipment were evidently followed from Goldfield. The story of the hold-up as told by Guard Wilson is an interesting chapter. Reaching the old frontier days of the Comstock, when stage robbers on the plains were numerous.

Rich Sandstorm Strike.

"Ever since the rich Sandstorm strike was made in September, when a ledge of ore carrying strings which showed values of $6000 to $10,000 per ton was uncovered, hundreds of persons have visited the claim and watched its development, among them many of the disreputable characters of the camp. Since this discovery, T. L. Oddie, the principal owner, has taken unusual precautions, believing that attempts would be made to steal the valuable ore mined.

"As mining progressed and the ore taken from the veins, it was carefully guarded, and when a sufficient quantity had been mined to make a shipment it was decided to send it to the smelting works at Reno. Rumors reaching Mr. Oddie that an attempt would probably be made to steal the ore while in transit, arrangements were made to have it guarded by a team of men from the United States mint at Carson City and the tailings to the Selby smelter at San Francisco.

Shipment Kept Quiet.

"Every precaution was taken to keep the date of shipment as quiet as possible, but in some manner it leaked out, and when it left the mine, a large crowd was on hand to see the wagon train off.

"The ore, which was in 368 sacks weighing fifteen tons, was loaded on two teams, which were coupled together in desert fashion and drawn by twenty horses and mules, two heavily armed guards, I being one, were placed in charge to insure its safety.

"We left the mine between 10 and 11 o'clock on the morning of the 15th, and figured to reach the wells that night where we were to encamp, the actual time of our arrival being 6:30 p. m., or about dusk. We un hitched our teams on gravel, fed the horses and mules and tied them close up to the wagon, ten on each side so as to give additional protection to the ore. All along I had an intuition that something would happen at this point, and in consequence I took the first watch, allowing the other guard and the teamsters to go to sleep under the wagons.

Attempt to Steal the Ore.

"About 10 o'clock my attention was attracted by a lantern which was placed on the well. This threw a light directly towards the wagons and left the back of the ore in pitch darkness, as the night was very dark. My position at this time was between the two wagons, where I could watch both sides. As I was about to step out and see what the light meant, a man with drawn revolver came into view at the head of the wagon, and holding up his left hand, made a signal.

"As soon as this happened three other men sprang from behind the boards around the well and started in the direction of the wagon. I saw them quite plainly, as the light from the lantern made them stand out distinctly. They were tough looking customers, roughly dressed, and should be seen them again would recognize them. As soon as the three on the left came into view the man on the right advanced slowly, with his gun ready to fire, coming toward where I was concealed. After he had proceeded to the end of the forward wagon, where they removed several sacks of ore, and placing them on their shoulders, started to sneak away.

Wilson Opens Fire.

"As each sack was valued at more than $300, I concluded it was time for me to act, but as the horses were between me and the men there was danger of killing them if I fired to kill. Stepping quickly to the right, I fired twice in rapid succession at the man with the revolver, and then jumping over the wagon tongue to the left I fired three more shots with my left hand gun over the horses' backs at the men who were escaping with the sacks. None of these shots took effect, as I was obliged to aim too high.

"As soon as I fired, the leader—the man with the gun—started to run, thinking, no doubt, that we were all awake and firing at them, yelling as he ran to the other three. 'Run like hell,' I yelled, and they all disappeared in the darkness, dropping the sacks a short distance from the wagon.

The shots arousing the other men, we immediately secured the sacks, which they had dropped, and for the rest of the night kept a close watch, but nothing else happened. It would have been useless for us to have attempted to follow them, as the wagons would then have been unguarded. We left the springs at 6:45 the next morning, reaching Tonopah at 4 p. m. of the same day.

Ore Shipped to Sodaville.

"The ore was then immediately loaded into a box car of the Tonopah railroad and under a guard of three men left there at 8 p. m. Sunday night, reaching Sodaville early the next morning. It was then transferred to the Stewart mill and its treatment completed Friday evening.

"The gold bullion derived from the ore after passing through the mill is now at the United States mint at Carson, but its exact value I do not know, although it will run close to $90,000. The tailings, which contain considerable gold, will be sent in a few days to the Selby smelter at San Francisco.

"This ore was all carefully hand sorted and represents the richest ore of the mine, and for its tonnage is the most valuable ever made from the Goldfield camp, the average being $6000 to the ton. There has been a rumor current that the ore was valued at more than $1,000,000, and run $130,000 to the ton, but this is all rot, like many of the other wild stories of the camp. It was taken from the rich ledge from the surface to a depth of forty feet, which is as far as the shaft is now down.

Lawless Element in Goldfield.

"Since my arrival at the camp I have particularly noticed the tough element which is hanging around Goldfield and the other near by camps. Many of them are confirmed criminals, men who have served sentences for murder and robbery, and who have been waiting for an opportunity to make a rich haul. I have visited mining camps in all parts of the world, but actually I believe there are today more tough characters in the Goldfield district than any camp I have been in, and I look for many hold-ups this winter and many murders unless they are driven out.

DAVIS BROKE THE TRUNK.

After Taking Out All the Money He Invested It in Whisky.

M. S. Davis, a cook employed in the restaurant of W. E. Farrar, 154 West South Temple street, went on a drunk Friday with money which he admits was stolen from the trunk of Fred Jones, a late boarder at the restaurant. Davis, after having only partially slept off the results of his debauch, was awakened in his room yesterday morning by an officer, armed with a warrant for his arrest on the charge of larceny. When confronted with the evidence of his guilt, Davis confessed, but offered in extenuation the claim that he was drunk when he did it.

The man's employer tells a different story. He says that Davis laid off Friday, and he believes that the crime was premeditated. The trunk was in the living room of the Farrar domicile, where it had been left by Jones, when he went to work at the Scott mine. Davis waited until none of the family was in the room, then he broke open the trunk and took from it a canvas bag containing a sum of money, which he carried off to the city. The trunk was found open and empty, and the money was traced to Davis, who was arrested on the charge of larceny. Davis was held in the city jail, and his case is now before the court.

TYPHOID STILL SPREADS.

Nine Cases of the Fever Were Reported to the Board Last Week.

The weekly report of the city Board of Health for the week ending October 15, shows forty births, of which twenty-two were males and eighteen were females. The death report for the same period was nineteen, of which seven were males and twelve were females.

Typhoid fever leads the list with the largest number of contagious diseases reported, numbering nine. Smallpox has arrived, two cases being reported during the week. Both cases are in the Fourth precinct. There was one case of diphtheria and one case of chickenpox also reported. No scarlet fever was reported, one case remaining from last week, leaves one case in quarantine at the close of the report.

Four cases of typhoid fever were reported to the board yesterday: Miss Holt, 450 East Fifth street; George Smith, aged 17 years, 49 South Eleventh East; James Peterson, aged 11 years, 245 West South Temple street; and E. Anderson, 263 Main street. There was one case of diphtheria, Jessie Brown, aged 8 years, near 23 South Ninth East.

University of Nevada Wins.

RENO, Nev., Oct. 15.—In the football game this afternoon the Olympic club team of San Francisco went down to defeat before the team of the University of Nevada. Shortly after the kickoff in the first half Nevada made a touchdown, in the second half Nevada scored a touchdown and the Olympic club a touchdown. The final score stood 8 to 6.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP.

The spasms of coughing in whooping-cough may cause a rupture of a blood vessel, and a fatal result. A mother can save the child's life. Mothers, provide your home with a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for your child's use. It is the best remedy for whooping-cough, and can be given to the child as soon as the first cough is heard. Thousands of mothers use it for whooping-cough, croup, colds, measles, etc.

Mrs. Maloney, 173 Aberdeen St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "My baby was old and was taken with whooping-cough. I got a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. After giving her the third dose as prescribed the cough was not so severe and I had not given her one bottle in all, when her cough was completely gone."

BAD CHILDREN SENT TO OGDEN

Three Incurrables Are Committed.

Girl Threatens to Be as Bad
When She Returns as Now.

Two Troublesome Youngsters Promise to Reform, and Are Given a Chance.

Special to The Tribune.

Three young incorrigibles were committed to the reform school at Ogden by Judge Lewis yesterday. Two more incorrigibility cases were continued until December 3, and the young prisoners released upon their own recognizance.

Hannah and Stella McMahon, aged 16 and 15 respectively, were charged with running around the town at night, frequenting houses of ill fame, saloons and other unbecoming places. They pleaded guilty to incorrigibility and said they wanted to go to the reform school. One of them said, as she was being taken out of the courtroom by the Sheriff, that she would be as bad when she came out of the reform school as she is now.

Was Given a Chance.

Herbert Larsen, a boy of 13, was charged with theft. He stole some articles from the store of Callaway, Hook & Francis on Labor day. He pleaded guilty, but said that he had returned the stolen goods. Upon evidence that he had been staying at home and behaving himself the court postponed his case until December 3, and let him go upon his own recognizance.

Leroy Burt, the youngest prisoner, aged ten years, was the third to be sent to the Ogden industrial school. He was charged with truancy and running away from home. His mother testified that she had no control over the boy. He had run away once to Ogden, once to Park City and to Soldiers Summit and other places. He admitted all the things alleged.

Joseph Krough, aged 12, was the last, and he was allowed to go upon his promise to be better in the future.

Court Notes.

W. T. Gunter was yesterday appointed by Judge Hall administrator of the estate of W. C. Lyons. His bond was fixed at $21,600. The amount of the estate was $10,800, consisting of money deposited in local banks.

Judge Morse holds court in Tooele on Monday.

The injunction case of T. W. Jennings and other property owners on First street against Salt Lake City and some of its officers and the contractor, P. J. Moran, was heard in Judge Hall's court yesterday. The street is paved now and the injunction is void, but there are still some matters to be settled as to the amount of damages that might be obtained on account of the work having been done. The case was argued yesterday and continued.

A session of the Federal court will be held on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mary A. McElroy has filed a complaint in the District court against her husband, David J. McElroy. She asks for a divorce on the ground of desertion and failure to support. She states in her complaint that they were married on January 1, 1888, in Salt Lake City, and that the defendant, on the 4th day of August, 1904, abandoned her and has continued to live apart from her ever since. She further says that he has failed to provide for her and her children, of which there are three, all under age. She asks for a decree of divorce and for support for herself and the children.

Gascone Ferrall, Ventura Palmpl, James Damon, Luigi Pampaloni, Angelo Masah and Belismino Landera of Italy, E. A. Stanley and Andrew G. Carlmark of Sweden and Fred Butler of England were naturalized by Judge Morse yesterday.

HUNDREDS DIE WHO COULD BE CURED.

THE MOST DISTRESSING FEATURE OF CHRONIC DISEASE SUFFERERS—IS THAT THEY LOSE HOPE, AND DIE, WHEN THEY COULD POSITIVELY HAVE BEEN CURED HAD THEY NOT LACKED MORAL COURAGE.

Many people try the busy family doctor—and because he is unable to check the ailment—owing to his lack of experience in chronic troubles—they lose faith, or squander money on worthless and dangerous Patent medicines—and when failure results—they give up hope, and hasten their end.

TAKE COURAGE—LOOK AROUND YOU.
Every day Drs. Shores & Shores are curing people that other Doctors have pronounced incurable. ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS ABOUT THEIR CURES. DON'T LOSE HOPE—or your last chance is gone. Look on the bright side—GO AND TALK WITH DR. SHORES & SHORES' CURED PATIENTS, then come to Drs. Shores yourself and be cured. CONSULTATION FREE.

WAS IT CONSUMPTION?

Doctors Told This Lady She Had Consumption and Was Incurable—Drs. Shores & Shores Said Not, and Cured the Patient—Read Her Story as She Tells It, and You Will Understand Why Drs. Shores & Shores Cure Their Patients.

Julia Gilroy, Residence, Second West Street, Below Tenth South, Salt Lake Utah.

Miss Gilroy tells a remarkable story of her cure, which many regard as a miracle. To all intents and purposes she developed Consumption. Good doctors so pronounced it and told her she was incurable. She came to Drs. Shores & Shores, and after a long time from what I supposed was Consumption. I contracted one violent cold after another, had a terrible cough, and finally had violent and repeated hemorrhages, lost flesh, and was all run down. My breathing was hard and painful, and Doctors told me I was incurable. Reading of Drs. Shores & Shores' great skill, I went to them and began their treatment. I improved from the first, my cough was relieved, the hemorrhages stopped. I GAINED 12 POUNDS IN WEIGHT IN ONE MONTH, and today I feel splendid, in every way, and feel that I am cured. No one can tell how grateful I am, and I feel it a Christian duty to give Drs. Shores full credit, and to advise all who are sick and despondent to see these expert specialists before they give up hope.

Miss Sadie Peterson, 525 East Second South Street, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Miss Peterson says: "I have suffered for three years with a terrible stomach trouble which nothing seemed to help. I could not eat anything without distress, felt like I had lead in my stomach, was short of breath, my heart pained me, and I had constant and severe headaches.

"Two months ago I came to Drs. Shores, and began their treatment. In two weeks I felt better—since then I have steadily improved—gained 12 pounds in weight, and today I can eat what I want to, without distress and feel all right in every way. The relief has been so wonderful that I must give Drs. Shores credit for their splendid work, and I am feeling better today than I have for years.

New York.—(Special Correspondence)—Prof. F. T. McIntyre, a well-to-do scientist of this city, has created a sensation in the scientific world. It has been learned on good authority that he wrote the wonderful book from which many persons received valuable information, enabling them to astonish physicians and scientists in many parts of the world. Through delving down in the realms of nature's mysteries, he has discovered a delicate but powerful law that seems destined to revolutionize the theories of the most noted authorities on Mind Force. Many people look upon him as a man possessed of a divine power, for he has told them how to influence people far and near and to heal themselves and others of all ills as if by magic. He tells them how to project their thoughts, develop a powerful mentality and build up the mechanism of the body and brain. Doctors and magicians who have tested the workings of this new discovery admit that it surpasses anything in the history of psychic power. In explaining the method to a reporter, Prof. McIntyre said: "I am convinced that everybody can accomplish the things I have done if they understand the system. It would be a grand thing if every man, woman and child in this country learned the use of the wonderful power. There would be no more disease, immorality, drunkenness, pernicious habits, poverty or failures in life. There is no reason why we should not be able to prevent murders and suicides, separations and insanity, for through its use almost any phenomena seem possible. I have sent my wonderful book to people in many parts of the world, which explains the principles of this psychic power. They can do the same wonderful things that I have done, and for which many persons think I possess some special power. I have sent these books out without any charge whatever, as I am anxious to have every one test the wonders of this new discovery. The letters received from each person who tries it are the same. They are all loud in their exclamations of surprise, and many of them dreamed such things possible. Many offer me fine presents, but I refuse them. I am working for the uplifting of mankind and science. The kind letters received from grateful hearts more than pay for my services. I will send a copy of my free book to every person who writes me without any charge whatever."

The book is full of startling surprises and many pictures. It explains how the strange phenomena of developing Personal Magnetism, Hypnotic Influence, Magic, Clairvoyance, Healing, Clairaudience and Minds. Projecting thoughts to distant places, are accomplished; it gives the key to the development of the Inner Force, concentration force of character, memory and powerful systems of awaking the mind. This is the most important discovery of the age, and it is the most powerful power, as the Hindus banish disease and despondency at will.

It is by far the most wonderful book of the age, and all who receive free copies of it can be thankful it points out the road to financial and social success. It reveals many mysterious phenomena that have baffled scientists for centuries. I want to give the whole hundred thousand copies of this book away without any charge whatever, but I want every one to enjoy experimenting with my system. Especially those who are not strong physically and mentally. I could charge a good price for my book entitled "The Secrets of Magnetic Force, Health and Power," should I not? But I will not. I will give it away to all who write me, or any person is a short note of request or a postal card, and I will send the book by return mail, absolutely free. Many who have received it write me letters that are startling, especially those who have written me after receiving the book and have taken my advice. "Do you mean to say that you help people who are sick and unsuccessful without charging for your service?" asked the reporter. "Yes," replied Prof. McIntyre, "I will be glad to reveal astonishing truths to any one who will write me explaining the nature of their weakness or disease, and I will not charge a penny for telling them how to get well and strong. In fact, this free book gives the key to wonderful systems of healing that almost carry one back to the days of great miracles."

Prof. McIntyre then presented the reporter with a copy of his new and finely illustrated treatise entitled "The Power of Magnetic Force, Health and Power," which he intends to send absolutely free to every person who desires to try the power of his new discovery. This is truly a generous act of this great scientist and every person who reads this should take advantage of his kindness and liberality. His name will certainly go down in history as one of the greatest benefactors of the human race has ever known. Send your name and address to the professor and ask for a copy of this wonderful free treatise. Your request will be kept confidential. If you wish it sent free and at once write to Prof. F. T. McIntyre, Dept. 201, No. 158 West Thirty-fourth street, New York City, N. Y.

You will be amazed at the workings of this truly wonderful discovery. It will open the way to success in life, enable you to control and sway the minds of many, make for you a position in life. It is more than words can explain. Send today. A postal card will bring it.
